FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Baltimore Foodies* invites Baltimore's young professionals to taste the best of what Baltimore has to offer

Baltimore, MD, December 2004 - Baltimore Foodies, www.baltfoodies.com, is scheduled to "go live" on January 12, 2005. Borne of the vision of an informal group of friends, with a passion for good food, drink and fun, Baltimore Foodies is a social group who's sole purpose is to visit some of the finest restaurants in and around Baltimore—and they're inviting young, local, professionals, with a similar passion—aka foodies—to join them.

Baltimore Foodies started with four friends who had a monthly tradition of experiencing the tasting menus of some of the better, and perhaps, lesser known, restaurants in and around the Baltimore area. And when friends, co-workers and spouses began asking to join them for the next month's gathering, an idea was born and Baltimore Foodies was created. "Food to me is not an elite hobby, but a passion," explains Baltimore Foodies founder, Lars Rusins, "There's a new generation, passionate about good food and drink. It's not just a meal, it's the way we hang out with our friends, explore new places and unwind with the familiar."

Though Baltimore Foodies is membership-based, a free e-letter—detailing upcoming events, a description of each restaurant, its respective menu and a link for purchasing event tickets—is available to anyone with an email address. The website includes all of the above, plus a detailed calendar of past events, restaurant reviews and links to many local restaurants. Although membership isn't required to attend an event, members enjoy discounted tickets, priority seating and special members-only dining events.
